Greetings,

Delirium is an acute neuropsychiatric problem that affects up to 50% of patients across the health care system and is associated with cognitive decline and increased mortality, as well as significant emotional and financial burden to patients, their families, and society at large.

While delirium can occur across all ages and for several reasons, those who are at highest risk include: older adults, history of cognitive impairment, visual or hearing impairment, polypharmacy, severe medical illness, restraints or immobility, acute or chronic pain, and surgery.

The American Delirium Society (ADS), now in its 14th year, and on an impressive growth trajectory, seeks to foster research, education, quality improvement, patient-safety, advocacy and implementation science to minimize the impact of delirium on patients across the health care spectrum. We are proud of the truly interdisciplinary nature of ADS, which brings together professionals from different disciplines under a single organization with the intent of raising awareness about the nature, consequences, and management of delirium. Under the ADS umbrella, clinicians and researchers collaborate to promote understanding and foster research on the nature, prevention, and treatment of this devastating syndrome.

The ADS 2024 Annual Conference will be held from June 9th-11th, 2024 at The Hyatt Regency Hotel and Conference Center – located in the heart of Sacramento, CA. The 2024 conference will follow and build on the successes of our 2023 annual meeting, our largest to date, with an attendance of over 350 delirium-focused clinicians, researchers, and administrators attending from around the world. We are organizing our conference around the following theme, A World Without Delirium: Using Compassion, Innovation, and Research-Informed Care to Eliminate Delirium Across the Continuum.

Our two-day scientific program will include over 35 different sessions led by more than 150 of the top delirium experts in the world. Our interdisciplinary expert faculty from more than 17 different countries, includes clinical, translational, and implementation science experts with expertise in surgery and peri-operative care, critical care, geriatrics, pediatric, and palliative care. We applaud your company's interest and creativity in contributing a product to prevent or improve care for those at high risk for delirium. This letter provides information regarding the 2024 ADS conference, and is also an invitation to explore the ways in which your company can engage with our 350 expected attendees. We hope your company is excited to partner with the American Delirium Society at our June 2024 Annual Conference in Sacramento, CA! Please feel free to get back to one of us if you would like to discuss any of these opportunities or have other ideas. We look forward to partnering with you to tackle this disorder.

Kind Regards,

ADS Conference Planning Tri-Chairs
